

Children's Literature Author Award Fee Scholarships

Want to be known as an award-winning author but lack the award entry fees?

Book awards bring recognition, attract more readers, and help an author network. There are thousands of awards to enter, with fierce competition. But in addition to fierce competition, most awards have an entry fee (some very steep), and as an indie author, that leaves the author paying to enter the competition.

Children's Literature is awarding two $100 Award Entry Fee Scholarships to ALLi member authors of books written for ages between 0-18 to help cover award entry fees. These scholarships can be used for any award entry fee based on the author's choice. Scholarships will be awarded based on the author's essay and book fit for the awards they wish to enter.

All children's and YA indie authors have until October 1, 2022, to apply. Scholarship winners will be announced during ALLi's fall conference.

Form (All fields are required.)

- Name:
- Email address:
- Author Essay: Tell a little about yourself and how winning a book award will impact you as a writer.
- How many books have you published?
- Title of book/books will you be submitting for awards.

- Which awards do you wish to enter? Provide the award name and website link to the award page.

- Why is your book a good fit to win this/these awards?

- Email this completed form to indieauthor@childrenslit.com